

Capitalization and Punctuation with Quotations

- Begin a new line of dialogue each time the speaker changes.
- Place quotation marks before and after the speaker's words.
- Begin each line of dialogue with a capital letter.
- Place end punctuation before the final quotation marks.
- Use a comma to set off a direct quotation in dialogue from the rest of the sentence.

Gasazi asked Alan, "Do you know what I do to dogs I find in my garden?"

"What?" whispered Alan.

"I turn them into ducks," bellowed Gasazi. "See, there's your dog, Fritz!"

Use capital letters, quotation marks, commas, and sentence end punctuation correctly. Write each corrected sentence.

Miss Hester, I'm very sorry but Mr. Gasazi turned Fritz into a duck, Alan cried out.

"I think you are mistaken" said Miss Hester calmly. "see for yourself. Here's Fritz, all safe and sound."

how can that be? puzzled Alan aloud. "Mr. Gasazi told me he did it. And, I picked up Fritz—I mean, the duck—myself.

I'm afraid Mr. Gasazi played a trick on you said Miss Hester. You see, Alan, Mr. Gasazi is a magician.

Capitalization and Punctuation with Quotations

- Begin a new line of dialogue each time the speaker changes.
- Place quotation marks before and after the speaker's words.
- Begin each line of dialogue with a capital letter.
- Place end punctuation before the final quotation marks.
- Use a comma to set off a direct quotation in dialogue from the rest of the sentence.

Gasazi asked Alan, "Do you know what I do to dogs I find in my garden?"

"What?" whispered Alan.

"I turn them into ducks," bellowed Gasazi. "See, there's your dog, Fritz!"

Use capital letters, quotation marks, commas, and sentence end punctuation correctly. Write each corrected sentence.

Miss Hester, I'm very sorry but Mr. Gasazi turned Fritz into a duck, Alan cried out.

"I think you are mistaken" said Miss Hester calmly. "see for yourself. Here's Fritz, all safe and sound."

how can that be? puzzled Alan aloud. "Mr. Gasazi told me he did it. And, I picked up Fritz—I mean, the duck—myself.

I'm afraid Mr. Gasazi played a trick on you said Miss Hester. You see, Alan, Mr. Gasazi is a magician.

"Miss Hester, I'm very sorry but Mr. Gasazi turned Fritz into a duck," Alan cried out.

"I think you are mistaken," said Miss Hester calmly. "See for yourself. Here's Fritz, all safe and sound."

"How can that be?" puzzled Alan aloud. "Mr. Gasazi told me he did it. And, I picked up Fritz—I mean, the duck—myself."

"I'm afraid Mr. Gasazi played a trick on you," said Miss Hester. "You see, Alan, Mr. Gasazi is a magician."