

A Personal Response

Step 3: Write Your Answer.

- Use details from both of your lists.
- Write a clear and complete answer.

Discuss the answer to this question.

1. How would you have felt if you had read these two articles about Butch and Sundance's escape?

I would have felt excited to read about when two pigs that ran away from a butcher. I like pigs because I have seen real pigs on a farm and I think they are interesting. I would have felt happy to learn that the pigs went to the animal sanctuary. I know Butch and Sundance will be cared for there.

Write an answer to this question on a separate paper. Use the chart you made for Step 2.

2. Connecting/Comparing Why do people like reading about animals? Use details from Fugitives on Four Legs, Dogzilla, and your experiences.

A Personal Response

Step 3: Write Your Answer.

- Use details from both of your lists.
- Write a clear and complete answer.

Discuss the answer to this question.

1. How would you have felt if you had read these two articles about Butch and Sundance's escape?

Use the questions on Teacher's Edition page 439B to discuss this model.

I would have felt excited to read about when two pigs that ran away from a butcher. I like pigs because I have seen real pigs on a farm and I think they are interesting. I would have felt happy to learn that the pigs went to the animal sanctuary. I know Butch and Sundance will be cared for there.

Write an answer to this question on a separate paper. Use the chart you made for Step 2.

2. Connecting/Comparing Why do people like reading about animals? Use details from Fugitives on Four Legs, Dogzilla, and your experiences.

Sample answer: People enjoy reading about animals because animals do surprising things. In Fugitives on Four Legs, Butch and Sundance ran away from a butcher. They were on the run for a week. The dog in Dogzilla chews furniture, digs up things, and hates baths. My pets do silly, surprising things, too. My cat likes to lick my toes, and my dog chases moths!