As she approached the _____, Andrea's level of nervousness rose. Today was the day. She did not yet have her pilot's _____; she was still a student pilot, and today she would fly the plane _____ for the first time. It was a beautiful, clear day so she should have no trouble. Still, she heard herself wondering, what if something goes wrong?

She climbed into the _____, checked the controls and buckled herself up. She powered up and moved down the runway. Next, came the familiar sensations of the nose lifting up and the plane climbing to higher and higher _____ and then finally leveling off.
