

Invention Words

clattered unfavorable buffeted erratic elated

Alexander Graham Bell was busy trying to hook up a battery. Then the inventor's hand slipped, knocking the battery and his tools off the table. The battery was knocked and _____ about by the tools as it fell. The tools _____ as they landed on the floor. Bell couldn't believe the mess.

"Mr. Watson, please come quickly. I need your help!" Bell said.

Thomas Watson sprinted into the room with a huge smile on his face. He was _____. He had heard his partner's cry for help over the device they had built. Sound had traveled through a wire!

"We did it!" Watson shouted. "The sounds were _____ and I didn't hear them perfectly, but the transmitters worked."

"Ha! Who knew success could come from such an _____ event?" Bell laughed.

The two men had just become the first people to talk on a telephone.

Invention Words

clattered unfavorable buffeted erratic elated

Alexander Graham Bell was busy trying to hook up a battery. Then the inventor's hand slipped, knocking the battery and his tools off the table. The battery was knocked and buffeted about by the tools as it fell. The tools clattered as they landed on the floor. Bell couldn't believe the mess.

"Mr. Watson, please come quickly. I need your help!" Bell said.

Thomas Watson sprinted into the room with a huge smile on his face. He was elated. He had heard his partner's cry for help over the device they had built. Sound had traveled through a wire!

"We did it!" Watson shouted. "The sounds were erratic and I didn't hear them perfectly, but the transmitters worked."

"Ha! Who knew success could come from such an unfavorable event?" Bell laughed.

The two men had just become the first people to talk on a telephone.