1. What did the Titanic hit that caused it to sink?

---

2. Why was the wreck hard to find?

- A. The Titanic, said to be unsinkable, sank in 1912 while on its maiden voyage.
  - B. No one could find the Titanic, the most famous wreck of them all, until 1985.
  - C. The wreck was hard to find because it lay more than two miles deep, in the middle of the Atlantic Ocean.

3. Why did so many people lose their lives when the Titanic sank?

Many people lost their lives when the Titanic sank for four main reasons. First, hitting the iceberg was unexpected and, therefore, no one could prepare in advance. Second, everyone thought the ship was unsinkable, so the people in charge did not respond quickly. Third, there were too few lifeboats on the ship to carry all the passengers on board to safety. Finally, rescue ships were nowhere near the Titanic, and it took some time before help could arrive to pick up the people who did make it onto lifeboats.
