I am proud of my Grandmother Simone for many reasons. First of all, she speaks four languages — all of them very well. She makes me and her other grandchildren speak both French and English at home. She is also a wonderful teacher. She teaches people from other countries how to speak English. As if that weren't enough, she is one of the best translators at the United Nations. I'm also proud of her because she is an older working woman who has stayed young at heart. These accomplishments are the reasons why I am proud of my grandmother.
